

Medication & Products That May Cause Photosensitivity

The use of the following medications alone or in combination may induce hyperpigmentation, hypopigmentation, dermatitis, blister formation, or burns. Increased sensitivity to the laser procedure may occur. A test treatment will be performed in any situation when the outcome is questionable. Please ask your physician who is prescribing your medication regarding the effects of your medication and the safety of laser treatment.

Acne & Skin Care Medications

Antibiotics

Antifungal

Antidepressants

Antipsychotics

Anti-Cancer Medications

Antineoplastic

Herbal Medicines

Sunscreens & Products Containing Benzophen